ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A method for ionizing a sample at ambient pressure including providing ionization-assisting molecules on a surface of a substrate, placing sample molecules on the surface of the substrate, and irradiating at least one of the sample molecules and the ionization-assisting molecules to produce ions of the sample molecules at or near atmospheric pressure. Accordingly, the system for ionizing sample molecules at or near atmospheric pressure is disclosed.